Subject: Query on Statement on RTI Linked to Aadhar

Kind Attn : Mr. Banthia,

Since the CM's office is taking so long to just forward my query keeping your email id in copy but at the same time not saying anything, I take this opportunity to ask you directly if the statement pasted below was actually made by you ?

UID no. may stop misuse of RTI Act: Chief secretary

Sharad Vyas, TNN Feb 2, 2013, 01.58AM IST

MUMBAI: The Maharashtra government believes that to stop the rampant misuse of the Right to Information Act (RTI) in the state, the AadharUID number can be used to verify the credentials of an applicant.

State chief secretary J K Banthia on Friday said currently, the credentials of an applicant could not be checked. If the person seeking information under the RTI Act could somehow be linked to an online databank, his background could be verified, he said, adding that currently the Act was misused by people who took resort to the law to settle scores with others, putting state officials in trouble.
